

Hello,

The Do Not Call law in New Jersey should be left alone. If the FCC wants to allow people to call me then they should provide me a free phone line for this. As long as I am paying the phone bill then I am the one who decides who can call me. My phone used to ring the minute I stepped into the house from work and right through my dinner. What a nuisance to be constantly abused from the telemarket companies. I have to pay the phone company for caller id so I can screen the calls. The FCC should be protecting the consumer.
